

Ajit Venkataraman

APM Terminals Inland Services South Asia Head

Ajit Venkataraman is the Managing Director of APM Terminals India Pvt Ltd. with the responsibility of Inland Services operations in the South Asia region. The current footprint includes four Container Freight Stations, one Inland Container Depot (a joint venture) and multiple Container Maintenance and Repair and Empty Depots spread across the Indian subcontinent.

Ajit was appointed as the Managing Director of APM Terminals India Pvt. Ltd. on 19th August 2015. He is based at the head office of APM Terminals Inland Services, South Asia in Mumbai, India.

With more than two decades of leadership experience in senior roles, Ajit has overseen business development activities in India, the US and ASEAN markets, his last assignment prior to joining APM Terminals Inland Services, South Asia being that of Vice President of Operational Strategy for Tata Motors.

He is responsible for the expansion of APM Terminals India's cargo inland services operations, which currently has a business presence at seven locations, including Chennai, Cochin, Dadri, Nhava Sheva, Panvel, Pipavav and Tuticorin.

Ajit earned a B.Tech degree from the Indian Institute of Technology, Madras and also holds an MS (Mechanical Engineering) from Michigan State University, and an MBA (Finance) from the University of Michigan.